137. HOME EDUCATION PROGRAM

Authority

Home education programs for students of compulsory school age residing in the District shall be conducted in accordance with state law and regulations.[1][2][3]

Definitions

Appropriate education - a program consisting of instruction in the required subjects for the time required by law and in which the student demonstrates sustained progress in the overall program.[2]

Hearing examiner - shall not be an officer, employee, or agent of the Department of Education or of the school district or intermediate unit of residence of the child in the home education program.

Home education program - a program conducted in compliance with law by the parent/guardian or person having legal custody of a child. A home education program shall not be considered a nonpublic school under the provisions of law.

Home education evaluator – means, with some exceptions as found in law, [2]:

1. Licensed clinical psychologist;
2. School psychologist;
3. Pennsylvania certified teacher with two years grading experience at the level they evaluate (K-6 and/or 7-12);
4. Nonpublic school teacher or administrator with two years PA teaching experience within the last 10 years at the level they evaluate (K-6 and/or 7-12);
5. Persons with other qualifications, with the prior consent of the superintendent of the district of residence

Supervisor - the parent/guardian or such person having legal custody of a child who is responsible for providing instruction, provided that such person has a high school diploma or its equivalent.

Delegation of Responsibility

The Superintendent or designee shall develop and distribute administrative regulations for registering and monitoring home education programs and maintaining appropriate records in accordance with law. [2]

Guidelines

Notarized Affidavits

Prior to the commencement of the home education program, and annually thereafter on or before August 1, the parent/guardian or other person having legal custody of the child or children shall file a notarized affidavit with the Superintendent, which contains:[2]

1. The name of the supervisor of the home education program who shall be responsible for the provision of instruction;
2. The name and age of each child who shall participate in the home education program;
3. The address and telephone number of the home education program site;
4. That such subjects as required by law are offered in the English language, including an outline of proposed education objectives by subject area;
5. Evidence that the child has
 - a. been immunized in accordance with the provisions of section 1303(a); and
 - b. has received the health and medical services required for students of the child's age or grade level;
6. Certification that the supervisor of the home education program and all adults living in the home and persons having legal custody of a child or children in the home education program have not been convicted of criminal offenses enumerated in School Code, in accordance with law.

The affidavit shall include all information required by law. Written notice that a special education program meets compulsory attendance requirements for a student with a disability, as approved by a teacher with a valid Pennsylvania certificate to teach special education, a licensed clinical psychologist, or a certified school psychologist, must be submitted with the affidavit. [1][2]

Instructional Program

The instructional program for home education students shall include such courses as required by law.[2]

Loan of Instructional Materials

At the request of the supervisor, the District shall lend to the home education program copies of the school's planned courses, textbooks and curriculum materials appropriate to the student's age and grade level.[2]

Student Portfolio and Evaluations

For each student participating in a home education program, the supervisor shall:[2]

1. Maintain a portfolio of records and materials, in accordance with applicable law.
2. Provide an annual written evaluation of the student's educational progress, in accordance with the provisions of applicable law.

Graduation Requirements

The following minimum courses in grades 9 through 12 are established as a requirement for graduation in a home education program: four (4) years of English; three (3) years of mathematics; three (3) years of science; three (3) years of social studies; and two (2) years of arts and humanities.[2]

Diplomas

Students who complete all of the graduation requirements of the home education program shall receive a high school diploma issued by the supervisor or an approved diploma-granting organization.[2]

Students With Disabilities

A home education program meets the compulsory attendance requirements for a student with a disability only when the program addresses the specific needs of the student and is approved by a licensed clinical psychologist, a certified school psychologist or a teacher with a valid Pennsylvania certificate to teach special education.[1]

Written notice of such approval must be submitted with the required affidavit.[1]

The supervisor may request that the school district or intermediate unit of residence provide services that address the specific needs of a student with a disability.[1]

When the provision of services is agreed to by both the supervisor and the school district or intermediate unit, all services shall be provided in public schools or in a private school licensed to provide such programs and services.[1]

Appropriate Education/Compliance Determination

A home education evaluator shall certify that an appropriate education is occurring in the home education program. The supervisor shall submit the certification to the Superintendent by June 30 of each year. If the supervisor fails to submit the certification, the Superintendent or designee shall send a letter to the supervisor notifying the supervisor that they have ten (10) days to submit the certification.[2]

If the Superintendent or designee has a reasonable belief at any time during the school year that appropriate education may not be occurring in the home education program, the Superintendent may submit a letter to the supervisor requiring an evaluation to be conducted and that an evaluator's certification stating that an appropriate education is occurring shall be submitted to the District by the supervisor within thirty (30) days. The letter shall include the basis for the Superintendent's reasonable belief.[2]

If the Superintendent or designee has a reasonable belief that the home education program is out of compliance, the Superintendent shall submit a letter to the supervisor requiring a certification to be submitted within thirty (30) days indicating the program is in compliance. The letter shall include the basis for the Superintendent or designee's reasonable belief.[2]

As required by law, all letters shall be sent by certified mail, return receipt requested, and the time for submission of the requested documentation begins upon receipt of the letter.[2]

Hearings

If the supervisor fails to submit a certification as required, the Board shall provide a hearing by a qualified and impartial hearing examiner within thirty (30) days.[2]

If the hearing examiner finds that an appropriate education is not taking place in the home education program, the home education program will be determined out of compliance; and the home education student will be enrolled promptly in a public school, a nonpublic school, or a licensed private academic school. The participation of the home education student in cocurricular activities, academic courses, and/or a career and technical education program shall not be deemed to be a part of the home education program.[2][4][5]

If a home education program has been determined to be out of compliance, the supervisor or spouse of the supervisor of the home education program is prohibited by law from supervising a home education program for that child or children for a period of twelve (12) months from the date of such determination.[2]

Appeal

The supervisor or school district may appeal the decision of the hearing examiner to the Secretary of Education, Commonwealth Court or Court of Common Pleas. The home education program may continue during the appeals process.[2]

Transfers

If a home education program is relocating to another Pennsylvania school district, the supervisor must request from the Superintendent or designee, a letter of transfer for the home education program. The request must be made by registered mail thirty (30) days prior to relocation.[2]

The Superintendent or designee shall issue the letter of transfer within thirty (30) days after receipt of the supervisor's registered mail request.[2]

The supervisor shall file the letter of transfer with the Superintendent or designee of the new district of residence.[2]

If a home education program is out of compliance, the Superintendent or designee shall inform the home education supervisor and Superintendent of the new district of residence of this status and the reason for denial of the transfer letter.[2]

If a home education program is in hearing procedures, the Superintendent shall inform the home education supervisor, hearing examiner, and Superintendent or designee of the new district of residence of this status and the reason for denial of the transfer letter.[2]

If the Superintendent or designee is informed of pending proceedings related to a home education program relocating from a previous district to this District, the Superintendent shall continue the home education program until the appeal process in the previous district is finalized.[2]

Students transferring into the District in kindergarten through grade 8 from out-of-state home education programs must have their record reviewed by the building principal to determine appropriate grade placement. The District may require standardized test results prior to making a placement.

Students entering/reentering the District in grades 9, 10, 11, or 12 shall have their previous home education record and program evaluated by the building principal, who will determine grade placement and subjects required. The District shall not incorporate the grades of a student who was home schooled in grades 9, 10, 11, or 12 into the cumulative grade point average and/or the cumulative class ranking system.
